

More Employers Helping Workers Save

Employers are concerned that their employees aren't saving enough for retirement. Many are rethinking how they present retirement benefits plans and assisting employees with better planning. Ohio Deferred Compensation (Ohio DC) is here to help.

According to a recent Aon Hewitt study, just 4% of employers are very confident that their workers will retire with adequate retirement assets. This is down substantially from 30% in 2011.

More than half (52%) of employers indicated they will focus on encouraging workers to take greater responsibility for their retirement savings in the year ahead, but they aren't asking employees to do it all on their own. Nearly half (44%) of employers will focus on helping workers retire with enough money and most (60%) say they will place a greater emphasis on helping employees understand and use the employer-provided resources available to them.

Beyond offering retirement income solutions, employers are increasingly trying to help workers understand how much they can spend each year during retirement. Nearly 71% of plans provide online modeling tools for this purpose, and 64% are likely to add these tools in the year ahead. Ohio DC provides tools to help your employees at Tools & Calculators on the participant website.

Studies show that financially secure employees make more productive employees. If you would like to help your employees save, you can leave the work to us. Ohio DC provides worksite seminars to your staff at your convenience. And, we provide ongoing support and materials.
